2012 NOT-FOR-PROFIT ENTITIES OVERVIEW FOR KNOWLEDGE COACH USERS

PURPOSE

This document is published for the purpose of communicating, to users of the toolset, updates and enhancements included in the current version. This document is not, and should not be used as an audit program to update the audit documentation of an engagement started in a previous version of this product

WORKPAPER UPDATES AND ROLL FORWARD NOTES

General Roll Forward Note:

You must be the current editor of all Knowledge Coach workpapers to update to the latest content, and you must be the current editor upon opening the updated workpaper for the first time to ensure you see the updated workpaper.

The 2012 edition of Knowledge-Based Audits of Not-for-Profit Entities is current through SAS-126, The Auditor's Consideration of an Entity's Ability to Continue as a Going Concern (Redrafted), and Government Auditing Standards 2011 Revision, and includes the following updates:

Knowledge-Based Audit Documents (KBAs)

- Instructions have been modified to:
    - Reflect the requirements of the clarified auditing standards;
    - Provide additional guidance on the KBA methodology to enhance usability; and
    - Better describe the use of each document.

Type of Change	Description of Change	Location	Based on Standard Y/N	Standard Reference	Roll Forward and Update Content Considerations
	Are the preconditions for an audit present and do we understand the following: - The purpose for which the financial statements are prepared and whether the financial reporting framework applied in the presentation of the financial statements is a fair presentation framework; - The intended users of the financial statements; - The acceptability of the financial reporting framework applied in the preparation of the financial statements, including the steps taken by management to determine that it is acceptable in the circumstances; - The agreement of management and, where appropriate, those charged with governance, including those overseeing the financial reporting process to the premise on which an audit is conducted; and - If applicable, our legal responsibilities if we plan to use the form and content of the auditor's report of another country. Are the financial reporting standards established by an authorized or recognized standard setting organization supplemented by law or regulation? Does our firm have experience with the relevant regulatory or reporting requirements? Does our firm have individuals meeting the criteria and eligibility requirements to perform an engagement quality control review available when applicable? Does our firm have the ability to comply with relevant ethical requirements? If specialists are needed, are they available?

Type of Change	Description of Change	Location	Based on Standard Y/N	Standard Reference	Roll Forward and Update Content Considerations
	Does our firm have the ability to complete the engagement within the reporting deadline? Does the engagement partner assigned to this engagement have the appropriate competence, capabilities, and authority; and have the related responsibilities been clearly defined and communicated to the engagement partner? If the engagement is for group financial statements, is there any indication that sufficient appropriate audit evidence could not be attained related to the consolidation process and financial information of the components?
KBA-301 Determination of Materiality, Performance Materiality, Tolerable Misstatement, and Thresholds for Trivial Amounts
New	Workpaper has been streamlined specifically to perform the various materiality and related calculations. Narrative instruction has been moved to RES 018.	Table - other than procedures	Y	AU-C 320
KBA-302 Understanding the Entity and Its Environment: Complex Entities
New	Additional guidance added to the instructions to further emphasize the responsibilities of the auditor.	Instructions	Y	AU-C 315

KBA-412 Understanding Controls Maintained by a Service Organization
Modify	Modified the instructions to better reflect the clarified standards.	Instructions	Y	AU-C 402
New	Added new steps: We performed procedures to become satisfied as to: a. The service auditor's professional competence. b. The service auditor's independence from the service organization. c. The adequacy of the standards under which the service auditor's report was issued. If we plan to use a Type 1 or a Type 2 report that excludes the services provided by a subservice organization and those services are relevant to the audit of the financial statements, we applied the requirements of AU-C Section 402, Audit Considerations Relating to an Entity Using a	Procedure steps	Y	AU-C 402

Type of Change	Description of Change	Location	Based on Standard Y/N	Standard Reference	Roll Forward and Update Content Considerations
	Service Organization, with respect to the services provided by the subservice organization. If our audit report opinion is unmodified, we did not refer to the work of the service auditor unless required by law or regulation to do so. If such reference is required by law or regulation, our report indicates that the reference does not diminish our responsibility for the audit opinion. If we were unable to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the services provided by the service organization relevant to the audit of the user entity's financial statements, we modified our audit opinion appropriately. If reference to the work of a service auditor is relevant to an understanding of a modification to our audit opinion, our report indicates that such reference does not diminish our responsibility for that opinion.
New	Modified conclusion language to better reflect the clarified standards: We determined whether a sufficient understanding of the nature and significance of the services provided by the service organization and their effect on the client's internal control relevant to the audit has been obtained to provide a basis for the identification and assessment of the risks of material misstatement, or whether we need to perform updating or other procedures with respect to the service organization. We also determined whether we can rely on the service auditor's report or whether we need to perform updating or other procedures with respect to the service organization. We considered the following in making this conclusion: • The reputation of the service auditor; • The date of the service auditor's report; and • Our review of the service auditor's report. New	Added the following questions for consideration during the team meeting: b. Ways in which management could originate and post inappropriate journal entries or other adjustments (e.g., debiting accounts payable and crediting cost of sales in order to understate liabilities and increase earnings). c. The kinds of unusual combinations of debits and credits that the engagement team should be looking for (e.g., debiting a liability account and crediting an equity account in order to understate liabilities and increase equity). d. The types of journal entries or other adjustments that could result in a material misstatement that would not likely be detected by standard audit procedures (e.g., consolidating entries and entries involving intercompany transactions). g. The entity's selection and application of accounting principles, including related disclosure requirements.	Table - other than procedures	Y	AU-C 240
KBA-502 Summary of Risk Assessments					There are new audit areas added to AUD-100 for this title. After update, ensure any new applicable audit areas have been selected in AUD-100 and addressed in KBA-400 so that they appear in KBA-502.

New	Added the following steps to detail review: In situations in which part of the audit was performed by component auditors and reference is not made to the component auditor, we have obtained, reviewed, and retained, at a minimum, the following documentation: a. Component auditors' Engagement Completion Document. b. List of significant fraud risk factors, the auditor's response, and the result of the auditor's related procedures. c. Sufficient information relating to any significant findings or issues that are inconsistent with or contradict the final conclusions reached. d. Any findings affecting the consolidating or combining of accounts in the consolidated financial statements. e. Sufficient information to enable us to agree or to reconcile the financial statement amounts audited by the component auditor to the information underlying the consolidated financial statements. f. A schedule of audit adjustments, including a description of the nature and cause of each misstatement. g. All significant deficiencies and material weaknesses in internal control over financial reporting, including a clear distinction between those two categories. h. Letters of representations from management.	Procedure steps	Y	AU-C 300

	i. All matters to be communicated to those charged with governance, including those overseeing the financial reporting process. In situations in which part of the audit was performed by component auditors and reference is not made to the component auditor, we considered performing one or more of the following procedures: a. Visited the component auditors and discussed the audit procedures followed and results thereof. b. Reviewed the audit program of the component auditors and, when necessary, issued instructions to the component auditors as to the scope of audit work. c. Reviewed additional audit documentation of the component auditors relating to significant findings or issues in the Engagement Completion Document. If applicable, in situations in which part of the audit was performed by component auditors and a decision was made to make reference to the component auditor, we properly addressed the provisions of the applicable auditing standard and the effect on our audit report. The Engagement Completion Document adequately addresses significant findings and issues identified during the audit.
New	Added the following steps to engagement partner review: The engagement was directed, supervised, and performed in accordance with the applicable auditing standards, professional standards, applicable laws and regulations (and Government Auditing Standards and OMB Circular A-133, where applicable), and firm policies and procedures. I have considered the results of the firm's monitoring	Procedure steps	Y	AU-C 300 process as evidenced in the latest information circulated by the firm and, if applicable, by other network firms and whether deficiencies noted in that information may affect the audit engagement. The Engagement Completion Document adequately addresses significant findings and issues identified during the audit. If applicable, I have reviewed the documentation of any disagreements among engagement team members and/or individuals consulted on significant matters. Our audit documentation has been prepared in accordance with the applicable auditing standards. If applicable, I supervised the work of an engagement team member with expertise in a specialized area of audit and accounting and determined that the nature, scope and objectives of that work were properly communicated and appropriate under the circumstances and that the work performed was adequate and the findings or conclusions reached were reasonable. I have concluded that the engagement team members, including myself, have complied with all required ethical standards, including independence. If applicable, an engagement quality control reviewer, with the proper experience, has been appointed and properly consulted regarding significant matters, in accordance with firm policies, and the auditor’s report has not been dated until the engagement quality control review has been completed. I have concluded that there has been appropriate communication throughout the engagement with other engagement team members regarding information or conditions indicative of fraud risks.

New	Added the following steps to engagement quality review: I am independent of the client. I possess the competence, independence, integrity, and objectivity to perform the engagement quality review of this engagement. If applicable, the following individuals aided in my review: ___________________________ I have reviewed and evaluated: a. The significant judgments that relate to engagement planning, including: (1) The consideration of the firm's recent engagement experience with the entity and risks identified in connection with the firm's client acceptance and retention process; (2) The consideration of the entity's business, recent significant activities, and related financial reporting issues and risks; and (3) The judgments made about materiality and the effect of those judgments on the engagement strategy. b. The engagement team's assessment of, and audit	Procedure steps	Y	AU-C 300 responses to: (1) Significant risks identified by the engagement team, including fraud risks; and (2) Other significant risks identified by the engagement quality reviewer through performance of the procedures. c. The significant judgments made about: (1) The materiality and disposition of corrected and uncorrected identified misstatements; and (2) The severity and disposition of identified control deficiencies. d. The engagement team's evaluation of the firm's independence in relation to the engagement. e. The Engagement Completion Document and confirmed with the engagement partner that there are no significant unresolved matters. f. The financial statements, management's report on internal control, and the related engagement report. I have read other information in documents containing the financial statements and have evaluated whether the engagement team has taken appropriate action with respect to any material inconsistencies with the financial statements or material misstatements of fact of which I am aware. I have evaluated whether appropriate consultations have taken place on difficult or contentious matters and have reviewed the documentation, including conclusions, of such consultations. If applicable, I have reviewed the documentation of any disagreements among engagement team members and/or individuals consulted on significant matters. I have evaluated whether appropriate matters have been communicated, or identified for communication, to the audit committee, management, and other parties, such as regulatory bodies. I have evaluated whether the engagement documentation that I reviewed: a. Indicates that the engagement team responded appropriately to significant risks; and b. Supports the conclusions reached by the engagement team with respect to the matters reviewed. The engagement team has properly evaluated the firm's independence in relation to the audit engagement and the appropriate consultations have taken place on matters involving differences of opinion or other difficult matters, in accordance with firm policies. (3) Review of the financial statements and the proposed auditor's report. There are no unresolved matters that would cause me to believe that the significant judgments made and the conclusions reached by the engagement team were not appropriate. The engagement quality control review was completed on or before the date of the auditor's report.

New	Added to Audit Procedures for Investments in Marketable Securities (e.g., Debt and Equity Securities and Mutual Funds) section: 1. With respect to equity securities classified by management as "available for sale" and fixed maturity instruments classified by management as "held to maturity," we considered management's intent and ability to carry these securities as follows: a. We obtained an understanding of the process used by management to classify securities as held for trading, available for sale, or held to maturity, and determined that the securities are classified in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework . b. For equity securities classified as available for sale, we noted whether there had been sales of securities during the period under audit and considered whether the pattern of sales of equity securities designated as "available for sale" would indicate that management might actually have the intent to trade those securities. c. For fixed maturity instruments classified as "held to maturity," we obtained a representation from management in the representation letter about the entity's ability and intent to hold such investments until maturity. d. We considered whether management's activities corroborate or conflict with its stated intent. For example, we evaluated management's assertion and intent to hold debt securities to maturity by examining evidence such as documentation of management's strategies and sales and other historical activities with respect to those securities and similar securities. e. We determined whether management's activities, contractual agreements, or the entity's financial condition provide evidence of its ability, for example, as follows: (1) The entity's financial position, working capital needs, operating results, debt agreements, guarantees, alternate sources of liquidity, and other relevant contractual obligations, as well as laws and regulations, may provide evidence about the entity's ability to hold debt securities to their maturity. (2) Management's cash flow projections may suggest that it does not have the ability to hold debt securities to their maturity.

If the transferred or sold asset is part of a larger financial asset, recomputed the allocation of previous carrying amount of a larger financial asset between the part that continues to be recognized and the part that is derecognized and evaluated the fair value of the part that continues to be recognized by the entity.
New	Added to new Transfers of Financial Instruments section: If applicable, we have evaluated the entity's continuing involvement in the assets, including the entity's recognition of an associated liability (e.g., guarantee, purchase option or cash-settled option). a. Upon completion of a transfer of assets by a client that satisfies the conditions to be accounted for as a sale, we determined that the client: (1) Has derecognized all assets sold. (2) Has recognized all assets obtained and liabilities incurred in consideration as proceeds of the sale. (3) Has initially measured at fair value assets obtained and liabilities incurred in a sale or, if it is not practicable to estimate the fair value of an asset or a liability, has applied alternative measures. (4) Has recognized in profit or loss any gain or loss on the sale. b. Upon completion of any transfer of financial assets in which the client is the transferor, we determined that the client: (1) Has continued to carry in its statement of financial	Procedure steps	N	N/A position any retained interest in the transferred assets, including, if applicable, servicing assets, beneficial interests in assets transferred to a qualifying special-purpose entity in a securitization, and retained undivided interests. (2) Has allocated the previous carrying amount between the assets sold, if any, and the retained interests, if any, based on their relative fair values at the date of transfer. c. If the client is the transferee, we determined that the client has recognized all assets obtained and any liabilities incurred and initially measured them at fair value (in aggregate, presumably the price paid). d. If a transfer of financial assets in exchange for cash or other consideration (other than beneficial interests in the transferred assets) does not meet the criteria for a sale, we determined that the transferee continues to recognize the financial asset and recognizes a financial liability for the consideration received.

New	Added to the Investments in Closely Held Corporations and Partnerships, and Investments Carried on the Equity Method section: We prepared (or obtained from the client) a detailed analysis of investments in closely held corporations and partnerships and investments carried on the equity method showing the following: The percentage of ownership (e.g., 20 percent or more of the voting power of the investee is presumed to provide the investor with significant influence), including the consideration of currently exercisable potential voting rights. For an investment accounted for using the equity method, we inquired of management as to whether the entity has the ability to exercise significant influence over the operating	Procedure steps	N	N/A and financial policies of the investee and evaluated the attendant circumstances that serve as a basis for management's conclusions. The accounting policies of the client/investor We read executed partnership or similar underlying agreements and other forms of supporting documentation underlying investments in closely held corporations and partnerships and investments carried on the equity method. We determined that management has properly accounted for the investments in closely held corporations and partnerships using the equity method of accounting, when appropriate. If the entity has determined that the equity method is not the appropriate method of accounting for this investment or that the investment no longer meets the criteria for recognition under the equity method, we obtained an understanding of management's rationale and determined that management properly accounted for the investment at fair value in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework. If management has determined that it no longer can exert significant influence over the closely held corporation or partnership and therefore the entity should no longer account for the investment in the closely held corporation or partnership under the equity method, we recomputed the gain or loss previously recorded in other comprehensive income under the equity method and verified that the gain or loss had been properly reclassified to profit or loss.

New	Added to new Interests in Joint Ventures section: We prepared (or obtained from the client) a detailed analysis of interests in joint ventures, showing the following: a. Note: If the operator or manager of the joint venture has the power to govern the financial and operating policies of the economic activity, it controls the venture and the venture is therefore a subsidiary of the operator and not a joint venture. c. The accounting policies of the client/investor. d. For jointly controlled operations: (1) The assets that the entity controls, the liabilities that the entity has incurred, and the expenses that the entity has incurred. (2) Its share of the income that it earned from the sale of goods or services by the joint venture. e. For jointly controlled assets and liabilities: (1) Its share of the jointly controlled assets, classified according to the nature of the assets rather than as an investment. (2) Any liabilities that it has incurred. (3) Its share of any liabilities incurred jointly with the other venturers in relation to the joint venture. (4) Any income from the sale or use of its share of the output of the joint venture, together with its share of any expenses incurred by the joint venture. 	a. We reviewed subsequent cash collections of account balances. b. We reviewed accounts written off during the period. c. We determined whether write-offs had been properly authorized and examined related supporting documentation. d. We inquired of the client as to whether any collection problems with accounts receivable are currently classified as current assets. If so, we considered whether such accounts should be reclassified to noncurrent assets. e. We performed and reviewed ratio analyses for such relationships as (1) accounts receivable turnover, (2) allowance for uncollectible accounts to accounts receivable, (3) allowance for uncollectible accounts to sales, and (4) accounts written off to sales. f. We reviewed post-year-end transactions related to receivables, particularly for discounts taken, credits allowed, and accounts written off, and we determined whether any adjustments should be made as of the date of the statement of financial position.
New	If applicable, we considered whether specialized skills, in accordance with AU-C Section 620, Using the Work of an Auditor's Specialist, are needed in performing the audit of revenue depending on the nature of the industry in which the entity does business (e.g., computer software industry). 	whether they provide assurance that recorded revenue transactions occurred and are properly recorded. h. We tested a sample of invoices or billing statements to determine that the proper rates were charged, billed usage agreed to readings or other indicators of service provided, and the billing properly calculated. i. We reviewed monthly sales levels and compare to monthly inventory levels for goods sold. j. We reviewed sales returns and inspecting credit memos related to any goods sold. k. We confirmed directly with customers the following: account activity (not just the balance); sales returns; credit memos; merchandise receipt date; and amounts written off that appear unusual, such as write-offs of balances due from continuing customers. l. We identified and testing large, complex, or unusual transactions, particularly those occurring around the end of the year. m. We investigated material cash payments to customers and inquiring about the nature of such payments.
New	We identified and reviewed significant transactions executed with related-parties and considered management's possible motivations for such transactions, including: a. New	We have obtained an understanding and reviewed documentation of the following types of transactions: a. The potential for side agreements (e.g., when an entity and its customers enter into side arrangements that remain either undocumented or documented in agreements separate from the main contract, there is a greater risk that accounting personnel will not be aware of all of the terms of the transaction, which may result in improper revenue recognition. The potential for side agreements is greater for complex or material transactions when side agreements exist,) b. Transactions near the end of the period (e.g., these transactions may be characterized by significant sales incentives and other conditions that affect revenue recognition.)	Procedure steps	N	N/A

	if it is more likely than not that some or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. In determining the need for and calculating the amount of the valuation allowance, we performed the following procedures: (1) We determined the amount of the deferred tax asset recognized on deductible temporary differences and operating loss and tax credit carryforwards. These are not offset by the deferred tax liability on taxable temporary differences. (2) We assessed the sources of future taxable income that may be available against which to recognize the deductible differences and carryforwards by considering the following: (a) Future reversals of existing temporary differences. (b) Taxable income in prior carryback years, if carryback is permitted under tax law. (c) Future taxable income exclusive of reversing differences and carryforwards. (d) Tax-planning strategies that would make income available at appropriate times in the future that would not be available otherwise. (3) Based on all available evidence, we made a judgment concerning the realizability of the deferred tax asset. (4) We recorded the amount of the valuation allowance or the amount of the change in the valuation allowance, if deemed necessary, based on the steps above. f. New	We ascertained that the financial statements adequately disclose related-party transactions in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework.	Procedure steps	N	N/A
New	We considered the following reporting issues: a. If the financial statements disclosed transactions with related parties that imply they were consummated on terms equivalent to those that prevail in arm's-length transactions, we obtained sufficient appropriate audit evidence about the assertion. If such representations were unsubstantiated by management, we expressed a qualified or an adverse opinion (depending on materiality). b. If sufficient appropriate audit assurance could not be obtained regarding related parties and transactions with such parties, we considered whether a report modification was necessary. c. If there were significant transactions with related parties, we considered whether to emphasize this matter by adding an emphasis of matter paragraph to the auditor's report (e.g., if the entity is heavily dependent on parent financing or if the entity had a significant sale to a related party). New	Added financial statement assertions to the procedures table.	Procedure steps	N	N/A
New	Added Practice Point related to substantive analytical procedures to Section III - Substantive Procedures.	Practice Points	N	N/A
New	Added the following substeps to Step 2: a. Whether the valuation technique used incorporates all factors that market participants would consider in setting a price. b. Whether the valuation technique used is consistent with accepted economic methodologies for pricing similar items. c. Whether or not the entity periodically calibrates the valuation technique and tests it for validity.	Procedure steps	Y	AU-C 540
New	Added the following substeps to Step 6: g. We assessed whether the nature and extent of risks arising from financial instruments are adequately disclosed in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework.	Procedure steps	Y	AU-C 540
New	Added the following substeps to Step 14: a. We determined that the business combination was accounted for in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework. b. We determined that acquisition-related costs including costs expected to be incurred subsequent to the business combination (e.g., costs to exit a business activity of the acquiree) were accounted for in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework. c. If the initial accounting for a business combination was incomplete by the end of the reporting period in which	Procedure steps	N	N/A the combination occurred, the provisional amounts reported were retrospectively adjusted to reflect information subsequently obtained about facts and circumstances that existed as of the acquisition date that, if known, would have affected the measurement of the amounts recognized as of that date. d. We determined that contingent consideration, if any, was accounted for in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework.

New	Added a procedure step on the review of disclosures related to FMV/Estimates: We reviewed financial statement disclosures related to this area to ensure: a. Disclosed events and transactions have occurred and pertain to the entity. b. All disclosures that should have been included in the financial statements have been included. c. Financial information is appropriately presented and described and disclosures are clearly expressed. d. Financial and other information is disclosed fairly and at appropriate amounts. There have been any new commitments, borrowings, or guarantees entered into. b. There have been any developments regarding contingencies. (new step) c. There have been any significant changes in capital or issuance of debt instruments, such as the issue of new shares or debentures, or an agreement to merge or liquidate has been made or is planned. e. Any unusual accounting adjustments have been made or are contemplated. (new step) f. There are commitments or plans for major purchases or sales of assets. (new step) g. Any assets have been appropriated by government or destroyed, for example, by fire or flood. (new step) h. Any events have occurred or are likely to occur that will bring into question the appropriateness of accounting policies used in the financial statements, as would be the case, for example, if such events call into question the validity of the going concern assumption. 	a. Regarding its plans that are intended to mitigate the adverse effects of conditions or events that indicate there is substantial doubt about the entity's ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time and the likelihood b. That the financial statements disclose all the matters of which management is aware that are relevant to the entity's ability to continue as a going concern, including principal conditions or events and management's plans. 7. If adequate disclosure is made in the financial statements, we expressed an unmodified opinion and included an emphasis of matter paragraph in the auditor's report to: a. Highlight the existence of the events or conditions that may indicate substantial doubt on the entity's ability to continue as a going concern; and b. Draw attention to the note in the financial statements that addresses the required disclosures. 8. If adequate disclosure is not made in the financial statements, we expressed a qualified opinion or adverse opinion, as appropriate, and we stated in the auditor's report that events or conditions exist that may indicate substantial doubt on the entity's ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time. 9. If the financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis but management's use of the going concern assumption in the financial statements is inappropriate, we expressed an adverse opinion. 10. We communicated with those charged with governance, including those overseeing the financial reporting process, when applicable, events or conditions identified that may indicate substantial

The possible effect on the financial statements and the adequacy of related disclosures in the financial statements; and c. The effects on the auditor's report. 11. If there is significant delay in the approval of the financial statements by management or those charged with governance, including those overseeing the financial reporting process after the date of the financial statements, we inquired as to the reasons for the delay. If the delay could be related to events or conditions relating to the going concern assessment, we: a. Performed additional audit procedures as deemed necessary. b. Considered the effect on the auditor's conclusion regarding the existence of substantial doubt about the entity's ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time.
AUD-903 Audit Program: Consideration of Fraud
New	Broke out Fraud audit steps and Illegal Act audit steps into two programs; AUD 903 remained "fraud" to better reflect the clarified standards.	Procedure steps	Y	AU-C 240
New	Added the following steps: We reminded all engagement personnel of the need to emphasize professional skepticism, recognizing the possibility that a material misstatement due to fraud may exist, notwithstanding past experience related to the honesty and integrity of management and those charged with governance, including those overseeing the financial reporting process. We have considered whether other information gathered as	Procedure steps	Y	AU-C 240 part of the audit indicates risks of material misstatement due to fraud. We have evaluated all identified misstatements for indications of fraud and, if there are such indications, we have considered: a. Management's integrity and the reliability of management representations. b. The implications for other aspects of the audit.

Delete	Deleted substeps for steps relating to inquiry of management, those charged with governance, and others. These steps were duplicative of steps performed and signed off at KBA-303. Reworded main steps to refer to KBA-303 for inquiry and sign off.	Procedure steps	N	N/A
New	Added the following substeps to step 15: a. Risk of management override of controls. b. Risk of omitted, incomplete, or inaccurate disclosures.	Procedure steps	Y	AU-C 240
Modify	Modified the following steps as follows: If we determined that a misstatement, whether material or not, is or may be the result of fraud and that management may be involved: a. We reevaluated the assessment of the risk of material misstatement due to fraud and its impact on: (1) Our original assessment of the risk of material misstatement, including fraud risks. (2) The nature, timing, and extent of audit procedures. (3) The design of, and our reliance on, internal controls.	Procedure steps	Y	AU-C 240

	b. We considered the organizational level of potential involvement including: (1) The possibility of collusion involving management, employees, or third parties. (2) Reassessment of the reliability of evidence previously obtained. If we have confirmed that, or are unable to conclude whether, the financial statements are materially misstated as a result of fraud: a. We evaluated the implications for the audit including the accumulation and evaluation of misstatements identified during the audit and the effect on the auditor's report. b. We attempted to obtain sufficient appropriate evidence to determine whether material fraud exists, and, if so, its impact on the financial statements and the auditor's report. c. We discussed the matter and an appropriate course of action with management, at least one level above the level involved, and with senior management and those charged with governance, including those overseeing the financial reporting process (e.g., the board of directors or audit committee). d. We recommended that the client consult with legal counsel. e. We considered withdrawing from the engagement and communicating the reasons to those charged with governance, including those overseeing the financial reporting process (e.g., the board of directors or audit committee).

	If we have determined that because of exceptional circumstances resulting from a misstatement caused by fraud or suspected fraud we may be unable to continue the audit, we have: a. Determined our professional and legal responsibilities, including our obligation to report to those responsible for our appointment as auditors, as well as to others, such as regulatory authorities. b. Considered whether it is appropriate to withdraw from the engagement where legally permissible. c. If not prohibited by law or regulation, we have decided to withdraw from the engagement, and we have: (1) Discussed with the appropriate level of management and those charged with governance, including those overseeing the financial reporting process, the reasons for our withdrawal. (2) Determined whether there is a professional or legal obligation to report our withdrawal and the reasons for it to those responsible for our appointment as auditors, as well as to others, such as regulatory authorities. Obtaining Written Representations: We obtained written representations from management and, where appropriate, those charged with governance, including those overseeing the financial reporting process, that: a. They acknowledge their responsibility for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control to prevent and detect fraud. b. They have disclosed the results of management's assessment of the risk that the financial statements may be a. We carried out the audit procedures necessary in the circumstances on the revision(s), and either: (1) Dated our report as of a later date, extended the audit procedures to the new date of the report on the revised financial statements, and requested appropriate written representations from management as of the new date of the auditor's report; or (2) Included an additional date in our report on the revised financial statements that is limited to the revision(s) (that is, dual-dated our report for that revision), thereby indicating that the procedures performed subsequent to the date of our original report are limited solely to the revision of the financial statements described in the relevant note to the financial statements, and requested appropriate written representations from management as of the additional date in the auditor's report about (1) whether any information has come to management's attention that would cause management to believe that any of the previous representations should be modified, and (2) whether any other events have occurred subsequent to the date of the financial statements that would require adjustment to, or disclosure in, those financial statements. If management revised the financial statements , and the audited financial statements (before revision) had been made available to third parties, we assessed whether the steps taken by management were timely and appropriate to ensure that anyone in receipt of those financial statements was informed of the situation, including that the audited financial statements are not to be relied upon. If management revised the financial statements, and our opinion on the revised financial statements differs from the opinion we previously expressed, we disclosed the following matters in an "emphasis of matter" or "other matter" paragraph:

They have disclosed their knowledge of fraud, or suspected fraud, involving: (1) management, (2) employees with significant roles in internal control, or (3) others where the fraud could have a material effect on the financial statements. d. They have disclosed their knowledge of any allegations of fraud, or suspected fraud, affecting the financial statements communicated by employees, former employees, analysts, regulators, or others.

	• The date of the previous report; • The type of opinion previously expressed; • The substantive reasons for the different opinion; and • That our opinion on the revised financial statements is different from our previous opinion. If management did not make needed revision(s) to the financial statements: a. If the audited financial statements have not been made available to third parties, we notified management and those charged with governance, including those overseeing the financial reporting process (unless all of those charged with governance are involved in managing the entity) not to make the audited financial statements available to third parties before the necessary revisions have been made and a new auditor's report on the revised financial statements has been provided. b. If the audited financial statements have been made available to third parties, we assessed whether the steps taken by management are timely and appropriate to ensure that anyone in receipt of the audited financial statements is informed of the situation, including that the audited financial statements are not to be relied upon. When financial statements were issued that need revision, and management (1) did not revise the financial statements, and (2) did not take the proper steps to ensure that anyone in receipt of the previously issued financial statements is informed of the situation, we notified management, and when appropriate those charged with governance, including those overseeing the financial reporting process, that we will seek to prevent reliance on the auditor's report. If, despite the notification referred to above, management or those charged with governance, including those overseeing the financial reporting process do not take the necessary steps to ensure that anyone in receipt of the previously issued financial statements is informed of the situation, we took appropriate action to seek to prevent reliance on the

RELATED, FOUNDATIONS AND ASSOCIATION WORKPAPERS FOR THIS TITLE

Related workpapers are Knowledge Coach Word workpapers where information flows in or out of tables within the workpaper. Some of these related workpapers are Foundation workpapers or associated workpapers.

Foundation Workpapers include most of the Communication Hub workpapers, which are central to the Knowledge-Based Audit Methodology used by the Knowledge Coach titles.

Associated workpapers require you to associate them with custom values, such as audit areas, specialists, service organizations, and other items. Workpapers require an association when you need to have more than one instance of a particular Knowledge Coach workpaper in your binder for each type of item to which the workpaper is related. Making this association allows Knowledge Coach information to flow properly between workpapers.
