Consolidated/Combined Returns

Consolidated Members' NOL Pro Forma Adjustments

- This feature is only available in worksheet view.
- 2015 consolidated NOL adjustments will not automatically be taken into account when a consolidated member company's pro forma is processed in 2016. In the past, each separate member's NOL pro formaed input had to be manually adjusted for any prior year consolidated differences to be properly reflected in the member company's 2016 NOL calculation.
- To help automate this process, two grids "Member Companies' NOL Pro Forma Adjustments" and "Member Companies' AMT NOL Pro Forma Adjustments" were created. There is a summary of the application of the Net Operating Loss carryover on the consolidated return. These summary grids provide a detailed comparison of each member's separate company NOL carryover to the consolidated NOL carryover attributed to it, and show the adjustment, if any, that needs to be made to member's company 2016 pro forma to reflect any 2015 consolidated NOL adjustments.

- They may be exported to an Excel spreadsheet in the 2015 consolidated tax return and then imported to the same grid in a member company's 2016 tax return. Once this is done, you may elect to have the program use these adjustments to calculate the member's company current year NOL deduction. Your original 2016 pro forma'd input will remain unchanged.
- Importing these spreadsheets alone to a 2016 consolidated member's return will not cause the automatic update to be performed. To select this automatic update option, mark the "Adjust this non-consolidated company's NOL pro forma based on its prior year consolidated membership" field on Export > Consolidated Members' NOL Proforma Adjustments > Option to Adjust Member Companies' Pro Forma. For more information, see help.

Consolidated/Combined Returns

Consolidated Members' NOL Pro Forma Adjustments

- This feature is only available in worksheet view.
- 2015 consolidated NOL adjustments will not automatically be taken into account when a consolidated member company's pro forma is processed in 2016. In the past, each separate member's NOL pro formaed input had to be manually adjusted for any prior year consolidated differences to be properly reflected in the member company's 2016 NOL calculation.
- To help automate this process, two grids "Member Companies' NOL Pro Forma Adjustments" and "Member Companies' AMT NOL Pro Forma Adjustments" were created. There is a summary of the application of the Net Operating Loss carryover on the consolidated return. These summary grids provide a detailed comparison of each member's separate company NOL carryover to the consolidated NOL carryover attributed to it, and show the adjustment, if any, that needs to be made to member's company 2016 pro forma to reflect any 2015 consolidated NOL adjustments.
- They may be exported to an Excel spreadsheet in the 2015 consolidated tax return and then imported to the same grid in a member company's 2016 tax return. Once this is done, you may elect to have the program use these adjustments to calculate the member's company current year NOL deduction. Your original 2016 pro forma'd input will remain unchanged.
- Importing these spreadsheets alone to a 2016 consolidated member's return will not cause the automatic update to be performed. To select this automatic update option, mark the "Adjust this non-consolidated company's NOL pro forma based on its prior year consolidated membership" field on Export > Consolidated Members' NOL Proforma Adjustments > Option to Adjust Member Companies' Pro Forma. For more information, see help.
