Correcting IRS Reject 8962 – 070

If an individual tax return should include Form 8962, Premium Tax Credit but does not, it will reject with Code F8962-070.

- This occurs if the IRS has information that the taxpayer, spouse, or dependent has Marketplace • insurance, and/or received an advanced payment for marketplace insurance.
- This must be reconciled on Form 8962 in order to determine if the taxpayer is either owed more credit or has to pay any part of it back.

The IRS began using this reject in Tax Year 2021. Prior to 2021, if the tax return was missing Form 8962 the IRS sent the taxpayer a letter requesting they complete and submit the form. Beginning with Tax Year 2021, a return that ought to include Form 8962 simply rejects.

🚺 IRS implemented this check for taxpayers who received the Premium Tax Credit payments during the year and must add form 8962 to the return to reconcile the payments received against the credit calculated and either pay back or get an additional refund. The reject prevents e-files from falling to the back-end IRS - ERS resolution system, delaying refunds.

To resolve the reject, the taxpayer needs to give the preparer the Form 1095-A they received from the Health Insurance Marketplace so that the preparer can complete Form 8962.

If the taxpayer is uncertain whether or not they were covered by Marketplace insurance, or if they cannot locate Form 1095-A, they should log in to their account at healthcare.gov and retrieve a copy of the form there.

If the taxpayer was not covered by Marketplace or they are covered on another person's Marketplace policy, they can attach a PDF Explanation to the efile.

To correct this error form the open return:

1. If not already in the return, add Form 8962.
